The following was sent to the listserv.

Help your students meet their goals by the holidays! New materials!

Help your students get a gift that keeps on giving – by the holidays!

Currently, 330 students need to pass only one more GED® test module to earn their GED® diplomas! Let's put forth a special effort to help these students earn their GED® diploma before the holiday season.

For those 330 students, the overwhelming majority of them (89%) simply need to pass math. That's basically 9 out of every 10 students!

Wouldn't it be a great gift for these individuals (and their families!) for them to earn their GED® diplomas by the end of the year?

If you aren't hosting something similar already, you may want to host a special pre-holiday math blitz or boot camp. Don't forget that there are great math resources located here:

Gayle Box, KYAE senior associate says, "The resources (on the page) from Bonnie and Susan for the Math Institute target the High Impact Indicators. Under these institute resources, instructors might find the tangrams for composite shapes and the nets for surface areas to be particularly helpful strategies for teaching those concepts."

Below, you will find new fliers with a holiday focus. Please let me know if you would also like some postcards (or other materials) with this theme. These are posted on the KYAE marketing page.

If you choose to do a boot camp, there are customizable boot camp materials on the page as well: <http://kyae.ky.gov/educators/14Marketing.htm>.

We hope you find these materials helpful as you help your students meet their goals!
